

The Biophotons -Realignment- Mirrors after Renzo Celani

Light, water and healing.

Essential to living beings and their health are light and water, because without these basic components, life is not possible. The more ordered the light and the structure of the water in the human body, the healthier is the organism. When using Biophoton-Realignment-Mirrors we take direct influence on the communication of all cells and have a significantly influence on mental and physical health and create more harmony.

At different levels, stress and blockages become simple and elegant reduced and this method is a way into a non-invasive, almost medicine-free medicine. Chronic symptoms and traumatias become much easier to treat.

Since applying the mirrors, the whole way of therapy in my practice has changed from the ground up. Not only that the patient through the mirror treatment increases much faster, even the detoxification and therapy protocols, which used to be extensive in the past, can be helped to be much easier with less remedies and by this, even much more effective. In my eyes, a great gift for the patient and therapist.

My personal introduction to the mirror method was a seminar with Renzo and where I was treated for demonstration. I have seen in the previous months numerous therapists because of persistent, painful pulling in the neck and shoulder area. But nobody could really help me. On the way from the seminar home, I noticed that the pain was already much less and within another three weeks it was completely gone.

This impressive and for me very convincing experience is now more than two and a half years ago. Since then, I use the mirrors in my daily practice with great pleasure and gratitude. Numerous patient examples show me again and again how powerful and unique the mirrors work. Their potential use is not tied to any age.

In London, for example, we treated ten autistic children as part of the "Charity Balanced and Beyond, an initiative of the dentist and spiritual guide Dr. Shabir Pandor. Shortly after our treatments came the gratifying feedback from the parents that their children have changed positively after each appointment. Especially nice for us was the moment, when one of the fathers after only three treatments of his son, said he has no autistic child anymore at home.

In my practice I always have many beautiful and very impressive experiences with children, who are mostly fascinated with the treatment of the mirrors and have drastic improvement of their symptoms, in a very short time.

A four year old girl came to me for an appointment. Two days earlier, the doctor had diagnosed pneumonia. I only mirrored the child once, in addition I gave a homeopathic remedy in high potency. The next day mother and child again had an appointment with the doctor. This doctor could no longer detect pneumonia.

Another day, a mother came to my office with her daughter. The little one had been there two days vomiting and kept no food or hardly any drinks. I treated her with the mirrors and gave a homeopathic remedy. The mother called me already in the afternoon and said her daughter has changed dramatically to the positiv and was unrecognizable. Diarrhea and vomiting had completely calmed down until the evening.

Even with burns I made several very good experiences. For example, a small boy visited me at home and burned his hands at the hot stove. He screamed with all his might. At the same moment, in which I treated him with the gold convex mirror, he at once stopped screaming. Fascinated he watched me treating him and played afterwards as if nothing had happened. No brand bubble was created.

Even in asthma fast successes showed up. A 45 year old patient came to me who has been suffering from asthma for more than 30 years. All previous therapies had none significant effect on the complaints. I mirrored him twice and then the asthma completely disappeared. This is now more than two and a half years ago.

A very big thank you also to Dr. med. Walter Medinger, reknown water researcher from Institute IIREC in Krems (Austria) and to Dr. med. Wilhelm Höfer, water studio Lake Constance in Überlingen. Both have shown in various laboratory studies, which impressive and special effect the mirrors have on water, its structure, educational powers and quality.

For example, we used tap water from Munich and mirrored it for several minutes with different mirrors. Dr. Walter Medinger then examined the treated sample.

His quote after the investigation of the water:

"The with the Biophoton Realignment Mirror technology treated water sample, compared to dozens of water samples we have had for 12 years, is absolutely unique and special, both in terms of strength and sharpness of expression of the resonances concerns, as well as the coincidence that resonances with the control frequencies of the human organism according to Paul Schmidt, The mirrored water has almost the complete coverage of all these frequencies. "

The water had become a sort of "healing water". Because the more control frequencies after bioresonance Pionier Dip. Ing. Paul Schmitt are contained in a water, the higher it is to regarded in its quality for the human organism.

Also Dr. Wilhelm Höfer and his colleague Berthold Heusel from Wasserstudio Bodensee were very impressed, how different structures are shown in only two minutes mirrored Überlinger tap water compared to "normal" water in microscopic investigations. Dr. Wilhelm Höfer conducted a spagyric crystal analysis and his collaborator Berthold used dark field microscopy. The results were in different photographs recorded. It was also observed that the longer the water stood, the higher its quality became.

These impressive water changes showed themselves in the by Prof. Gerald Pollack discovered exclusion zones of water (fourth aggregate state of water). The EZ zone (Exclusion Zone) expanded under mirror influence and stabilized. This even, after the influence of the mirrors is no longer present, it was 100% and more.

We experience the same with our treatments in practice. The symptoms of patients still improve more and more after a mirror treatment for weeks.

Why are the water tests so interesting for us ? Our body is made up, depending on age, 50% to 70% or more of this life-giving element. By the treatments with mirrors, we can directly influence the water stored in cells and tissues and by this influence the health.

What happens through the treatment with the mirrors?

We re-inform the body with its own ordered light. Photons coming out of disturbed body parts are filtered and then, with new signals of order and self-healing, are mirrored back to the troubled zone and the whole system can then start working properly again and health function can improve.

This means an incoherent system is infected with coherence. The more coherent a field, the better the communication and the whole system works. Without communication no information. It is as if the mirror treatment starts a domino effect, which then always continues to run. The healing effect of the treatment stops only when a wave is created, which is larger than the wave, which is built up by the mirror treatment. Such a wave can be caused for example by electrosmog.

The more the patient is exposed to wireless internet, cordless phones and cell phones after a treatment, the less favorable this is for the success of the treatment. That's why it is of highest significance, that - after a mirror treatment - the electrosmog load is reduced to a minimum, so that the body can remain in self-regulation.

We should therefore create in our home as much as possible a trouble-free zone without wireless networks. In addition to the reduction of electrosmog load, we concentrate after a mirror treatment essentially on the administration of binders to bind the released toxins. Likewise, the treatment can be accompanied by Phytobiophysics flower essences, especially on the mental level. Experience has shown that - by giving the flower remedies - the subconscious can – in the following weeks - work much better on the emotional subjects which were touched during the treatment.

Phytobiophysics are flower essences from all parts of the world, that Diana Mossop has developed within the last 30 years. At the same time, they are compulsory subjects in medical studies in Malaysia. Also, I have observed very good results by giving homeopathic remedies in high potency after a treatment.

Other therapists like to use the BALDRON MistleTree Essences.

What are we doing when we give a mirror treatment?

We are looking for topics and substances (eg toxins), which restrict the patient's ability to regulate, this means they block the healthy organism. Then we treat all this until the stress disappears or at least has significantly reduced. So the patient gets back much more energy available for everyday regulation. Both in physical as well as in emotional complaints, as well as topics in the family system, the mirrors can therefore be applied effectively.

All mirrors are made of very high quality metals with different cuts. These are made of gold, silver and aluminum. Usually we work with 8 mirrors, a few therapists also work with up to 13 mirrors. Renzo has been looking for materials that suffice the effect of the mirrors for more than two years. It is needed surfaces of such fineness that almost without burglaries in the light spektrum wavelength range can as much as possible be reflected.

Every single one of these mirrors has its optimum range of effectiveness, which also depends on the material of the built-in filters. They complement each other and thus cover together the highest possible light spectrum.

Very important to note here is that all the mirrors used in our treatment always contain a built-in or pre-screwed filter. Without filter we don't do any treatments. The filter ensures that the light is coherent and thus ordered and healthy reflected back. The more order, the more health. If only one ordered light particle reaches the original fault zone, this infects in a positive way every other light particle there. It is spread like a virus of order and coherence. If one would treat without such a filter, it could happen that incoherent and thus pathogenic light can be reflected back. What happens then, we do not know. But there is the possibility that a mirror without filter can cause disease or make it worse.

The effect of the treatment can increase again many times, if the therapist uses a so-called whole body plate. Since more than one year I use one of these very special, highly structured acrylic glass constructed enhancing plates. The patient lies on it during the entire treatment. His field of light is arranged, and in addition, the effect of the mirror treatment is reinforced again.

Whether cat, dog or horse, they also feel and enjoy such a treatment.

What can I imagine by a treatment with the mirrors?

A short version of what this might look like is the following. The patient lies on the couch, the therapist uses an adequate test method (e.g., kinesiology or tensor) and figures out where physical and / or mental blockages are found or if environmental factors restrict the body's regulation. If the therapist finds such a blockage, he tests which of the mirrors can help that the blockage is solved. While the patient is lying there with his eyes closed or open, the therapist reflects with the mirror at the before found blocked spot. He uses the mirror in slow, turning moves away from the body and then back to the original place.

The patient may experience tingling, heat or cold, a soothing sensation or something similar, but sometimes he also feels nothing at all. Gradually, the therapist releases all detectable blockages and stress reactions to toxins and the like and treats them directly. If there are no more found, the therapist tests which binders or possibly supporting. The best would be to live in a trouble-free zone at home without wireless networks. In addition to the reduction of electrosmog load, we concentrate after a mirror treatment essentially on giving binders so that the body can release toxins. Likewise, the treatment may be supported by Phytobiophysics flower essences, especially on the mental level.

Then the patient slowly gets up and shakes vigorously.

For me, a work without the mirrors is no longer possible to imagine in my practice. The overall, treatments become much easier and more effective and I reach in a section much more in less time. In addition, I can reach topics which - and their solution - before were unreachable. Likewise, in my experience, other treatments, such as e.g. Homeopathy, Dornmethod and massage as well as Sophia -Matrix Therapy (Lymph treatment) are effectively supported.

By itself or in combination with other therapies, the mirrors are absolute unique for me and in my eyes a new dimension of healing.

Interview with Renzo about the mirrors.

How did you come to the mirrors?

I want to express myself like Albert Hofmann. The mirrors found me, not me them. Because if one day you go from earth, you want to leave something behind. I was able to heal, see and feel the human but I could not teach the people how to do that. In one for me life-threatening moment I asked if we could not reproduce my healing hands. Then I saw pictures, put them together, and thought, "how easy is that?" and started with the implementation. That it was not that easy, to make out of what I saw a working tool for all, I noticed quite fast.

What was your most impressive experience with the mirrors?

Giving this answer is easy. The mirrors have saved my life. I had a very serious detoxification disorder, which I suffered from since about 2011, and this threatened my life. It seemed as if there is no way out. Then a patient came to me, who, like me, expected a shortened life span. In testing and searching, I found nothing that could help him directly. But then I saw the mirrors that I had built a few days before and I checked which ones could go in resonance with the patient. There was one which distinguished itself and this one I used. Within 2-3 minutes I suddenly had a full bladder. When urinating I noticed that more chemistry than urine came out of my body. Since that day I was feeling better every day.

What is your desire for the future?

My wish for the future is to see therapists continue using the mirrors the way they started. With astonishment, with visible effects, with joy and with love for the patient. It is still the most beautiful success in chronic diseases to hear that they worked, where it seemed as if there is no help possible.
